To Our Many Friends . . .

Owing to the fact that we did not publish last week, we have what some people call "old" news in this issue. To our mind no news is ever old. However, you will realize by reading elsewhere on this page just why you didn't receive your regular paper last week.

The cards, flowers, words and deeds of helpfulness will be a treasured memory as we know how well our little Jim was thought of by all those who were fortunate enough to have known him.

There are many, many friends and acquaintances who have helped in different ways and it is hard for us at this time to contact every one personally to express our thanks, so we take this opportunity through the medium of our paper to reach as many of you as possible with our heartfelt thanks.

On Saturday, August 7th, at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Didsbury, the marriage of Miss Shirley Krueger, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Krueger of Carstairs, and Mr. Allan Lockwood Garth, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood Garth of Jarvis, Alberta, was solemnized by Rev. The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," was wearing a floor-length strapless gown of white nylon lace and double layers of tulle over satin. The full bouffant skirt was fashioned with lace and tulle and the bodice of Chantilly lace, V neckline and long, lily-point sleeves. Her only jewellery was a triple strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Proceeding the bride down the aisle, were her two attendants, Miss Lois Krueger, sister of the bride as maid-of-honor, and Miss Marilyn Befus, of Edmonton, a school chum as bridesmaid. They wore identical princess style, waist length gowns of taffeta in a new fall shade of pink. They carried identical Colonial bouquets of bronze "mums."

Little Virginia Bode, niece of the bride was flower girl, dressed in a yellow, full skirt of double layers of net over taffeta, carrying a basket of fern, bronze "mums" and red roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Hayden Samuel of Gadsby, Alberta, and Mr. Douglas Shannon of Alberta Beach, Alberta. Ushers were Mr. Lloyd Krueger, brother of the bride, and Mr. Louis Garth, uncle of the groom, both of Calgary.

At the beginning of the ceremony, Mr. Julius Myhr, of St. Louis, Missouri, sang "O Perfect Love and Purity" and during the signing of the register, he sang "The Lord's Prayer." The wedding music was played by Mrs. Don Surraat, of Bentley, Alberta. The mother of the bride and groom both chose navy blue dresses, white accessories and each wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Albertine Treichel, grandmother of the bride flew up from San Francisco to be at her granddaughter's wedding, was the guest of honor and chose a dusty rose dress black and pink accessories with an orchid corsage.

The reception was held for 50 guests in the church parlor which was decorated with white bells and streamers. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked with yellow tapers.

Mr. Julius Myhr was master of ceremonies. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Hayden Samuel to which the groom ably responded.

For going away, the bride chose

Saving money . . . and writing cheques

A bank offers you two types of deposit account, Savings and Current.

If you write cheques frequently, you will like the many advantages of a Current account.

If your main purpose is to save, to accumulate funds, it's good to have a Savings account.

The money you leave in a Savings account earns interest, and your bank book gives you an up-to-date, continuing record of your financial progress. If your funds are active, with frequent deposits and withdrawals, a Current account provides a special service; a monthly statement, together with your cancelled cheques—useful as receipts and a ready reference for budgeting, bookkeeping and other purposes.

Good Neighbors . . .

We cannot too often remind ourselves that one of the essential aids to happiness is to live on friendly terms with our neighbors. In a town such as ours we are practically all neighbors, though we may live a few blocks apart.

Sometimes it's not easy to be a good neighbor, but let's be reasonable. The world is made up of all sorts of people; it's not expected that the folk through the wall or on the other side of the garden fence should be exactly like ourselves. What a dull, uninteresting world that would make.

Some, at least according to our standards, may be a good neighbor, but let's be reasonable. We probably appear in the same light to them. Their habits, customs and natures differ from ours. On first acquaintance they are aloof and stiff and even cause irritation.

Yet we have a duty to them and ourselves. We are morally bound to be good neighbors, and lonely indeed is the woman who cannot call on one in time of trouble.

First impressions are mostly deceptive, and we are all inclined to be too hasty in our judgment of people — especially newcomers, the folk who have just moved in. It's contrary to the whole spirit of good neighbourliness. It takes time to get to know people.

Shyness and a reserved nature are mistaken for queeriness and a love of seclusion. The loneliest people in the world are the ones who want to be friends but don't know how to make them. These are the most misunderstood people.

They are misused and avoided and entirely alone. There is no virtue in forcing our friendship on people who don't want it. But we should first offer it in the right spirit. Friendship is at its finest when it expects little in return. So it is with the folk we meet for the first time. Don't expect much and you may be delighted with little.

However unattractive they may be we have to live with neighbors. As we go on meeting them and get to know them we make wonderful discoveries. When we get our first feeling of dislike and distrust, they begin to show us other aspects of themselves.

Their tastes may differ, their views and beliefs may be quite contrary to ours, yet their hearts are in the right place. Mostly they are seeking for the things we are seeking after. Happiness and a contented mind.

With time and acquaintance comes the knowledge that they are nice, friendly people. Good fellows, good neighbors. When we have made these discoveries, daily contact with our neighbors is seen to be the privilege and joy it really is.

Just a Thought:
Friendship is no plant of hasty growth.

For The Land's Sake

The most urgent problem facing world agriculture today is the problem of soil fertility. This is true in all countries, Canada included.

With our immense territory and our sparse population it has always been so easy to find good land when we wanted it that we have formed the habit of thinking that our good soil is limitless and its fertility inexhaustible.

The sobering facts are that, compared with the country's total area, our productive land is decidedly limited in extent, that much of it is deteriorating in quality, and that more of it is being diverted every year to other than agricultural uses. This process is going on without regard for our future food supply.

What we lack is a proper appreciation of relative values. Many things of only passing value appeal to us more than the fertility of our soil. If we prefer these ephemeral things to the land that feeds us, the time will surely come when we will not have enough fertile soil to feed our population and will be depending on imports for our food supplies.

And from what countries will we be able to buy food a hundred years from now?

We drain our marsh lands and are surprised to see our streams and our wells going dry.

We grow the crops that yield us the quickest cash return, regardless of the effect such cropping has on the land; and when we have worked all the fibre out of the soil we are helpless to prevent the wind from scattering its richest elements over the face of the earth.

We allow our choicest agricultural lands to be turned to other uses; and our elected representatives are always ready to grant powers of expropriation to boards or officials, few of whom have any appreciation of the values they are destroying.

The luxury of being able to drive on our modern highways and no level crossings for scores of miles, is poor compensation for the havoc such highways create on the farms through which they pass.

Recently three men in Toronto found themselves armed with power to expropriate farm lands for city purposes. They selected the best farm lands they could find, though it was miles beyond the city limits, and without any attempt to negotiate with the owners, they notified them to vacate their farms because the city needed the land.

The city didn't need the land and won't need it for years to come. But some men, clothed with a little brief authority, dearly love to exercise it. Industry is a big devourer of farm lands today. Its encroachments are hard to check because it is able to offer prices that the farmers could not hope to earn by growing crops.

It is said that with the completion of the St. Lawrence power de-

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Didsbury Pioneer.

Dear Sir:

May I, through the medium of your newspaper, thank everyone who made the recent Field Trial of the Salk polio vaccine a success.

Due to the co-operation of parents, there were very few "defaulters" for the third inoculation, which occurred during the holidays. Needless to say, all the children behaved wonderfully well, and an especial word of praise is due to those who had blood tests in addition to their "shots."

I know that all members of the staff of the Health Unit join with me in saying "Thank you," for the help given by everyone, which made our work so much easier. It is hoped that the reward will be that as a result of these trials a successful vaccine will be found.

Yours truly,
M. P. O. Rawlinson,
Medical Officer of Health.

The Joke Box

A hobo knocked on the door at an inn called "George and the Dragon."

The landlady opened the door, and the hobo asked for something to eat. "No," she growled, slamming the door in the man's face.

The hobo knocked again, and the landlady opened the door. "May I talk to George, please?" he said.

George Law: "You kill any moths with those moth balls I sold you the other day?"

Clint: "No, I tried for five hours, but I couldn't hit one!"

"How is that second-hand car you bought?"

"I've just realized how difficult it is to drive a bargain!"

The employment interviewer asked him: "And where have you recently worked?"

"I was a psychiatrist in a porcelain factory."

"I never heard of such a job. What did you do?"

The peculiar gleam in the man's eye was in tune with his answer. "I took care of the cracked pots."

No two men are ever alike — and both of them are glad of it!

First Auto Mechanic: "Which type of upholstery do you prefer, leather or fabric?"

Second Auto Mechanic: "I like fabric. Leather is too hard to wipe your hands on!"

development, most of the fruit lands of the Niagara district will be bought up by industries attracted by the proximity of cheap electric power.

But the question arises: should the country allow the land on which its future food supply depends to be diverted to any other purpose than food production?

Surely it is the duty of the state to see that no interests, public or private, are allowed to thwart that purpose.

The nation has entrusted its land into the hands of its farmers because it believes that private ownership is the surest way to encourage production.

But the right to our land does not include the right to render it useless for the purpose for which nature intended it.

There is no more important duty the government could assume than that of preserving the country's power to feed its people.

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

Every one is well aware of the value of maps, although we do not take the same interest in all of them. There is the anatomical type of map (sometimes called puzzle) that is most familiar and in some ways the most interesting of all maps. "There is no art to read the mind's construction in the face," but women view it to see if their hat is properly straight and their lips correctly curved. Men, gazing at themselves, must surely wonder at the fearful and wonderful works of nature being bulldozed by a dull razor. Such maps, especially the male variety, are useful for purposes of identification if for nothing else.

The other maps are printed on paper, in assorted colors and sizes. As I have for some time been making arrangements for a journey clear through to the Maritimes, such a printed map is especially interesting. I must admit that I have difficulty locating stray letters, collar buttons and other such trivia. One would think that a city the size of Sackville, N.B., would be much easier to locate with the help of a map, but if the C.P. doesn't take me there as per ticket, I may end up in Shubenacadie or Musquodoboit instead.

The General Council, to which I am going, meets September 15th to 24th, but I will be leaving here August 26th. In case any of you are wondering about services here while I am wandering around the countryside, let me announce that regular services at all points will be maintained on the first, third and fourth Sundays in September, but withdrawn completely on the last Sunday in August. Special announcement will be made concerning the second Sunday in September.

But let us return to geography, or cartography, if one must use such an awkward word to spell. The size of maps, or charts, is also important. Should a large map be cluttered up with the names of small places, or do small places merit a large map. What makes Toronto more important (?) than Torrington, or Montreal, than Waubesaene? Surely mere bigness is not the only consideration. The Holy Land, in terms of size, is insignificant. But its people are not easily dismissed. It is personalities that give value to the place. Lambarene has Albert Schweitzer, Tokyo has Kikawa, Tokio gave us Amos, Jeremiah came from Anathoth, and supremely, Bethlehem and Nazareth were the home towns of our Lord. The only map large enough to show the importance of Bethlehem is one of the entire world, and nothing less, including the big city, town, village, hamlet and home.

NOTES

W. E. Snyder
Field Supervisor

Kill Those Thistles! Hail has raked this municipality from one side to the other and from north to south. Numerous storms have laid low many fine crops and dashed the hopes of many farmers. This is tragic and lamentable but we are able to see many fields which are badly polluted with Canada thistle.

Since the crops are gone it is easy to see the thistles. Many of these fields were "border line" cases and it is quite possible that some of them would have had to be destroyed because of the high weed population.

I can't remember a year when Canada thistle was so prevalent and so widespread. This, I believe, is an aftermath of the unsuitable ground conditions at seeding time, making it difficult, if not impossible, to do a thorough job of cultivation. Also fields intended to be summer fallowed were in many cases put into crop because they were dry enough to work while others were not.

I have had numerous men tell me that they could scarcely decide whether to let certain crops stand because of the high weed population and, while they aren't happy about the hail, they certainly know now what to do about these weedy fields—plow them under.

It is still possible between now and freeze-up to kill these thistles by a real thorough summer fallow. Wherever there is no salvage value, plow or till these fields into trash cover and at the same time you will be doing much to kill those thistles. Follow this up with several more strokes between now and freeze-up and get your land ready for next year and we hope, much better luck to you all.

THESE DAYS HAVE GONE FOR THE TIME BEING

The past six or seven years have been a dangerous age for the adolescents. Work at abnormally high wages was available to them for the taking. Not a great deal of brains and concentrated effort was required.

To those kids who walked out of high school and into this easy money, life was a bed of roses. They knew nothing different, and they expected things to continue as they were. But now the scene has changed. The farmer is not getting a big price for his wheat and the economy of the country has slackened its pace.

Thus we see young men whose pockets were formerly bulging with full pay envelopes resorting to the degrading practice of siphoning gas from parked cars, stealing tires and wheels, and doing a hundred and one things they would not ordinarily do so that they can maintain their standing in the eyes of the girls who have been attracted by their glamor.

The same thing has applied itself to the girls. They have lived in a world of fantasy for six or eight years. Their idiosyncracies and tantrums have been endured when under circumstances they would have been turned out on their ear. The good workers, the reliable and dependable employees will not suffer from the slight recession. The misfits will complain that the world owes them a living. The wise will sharpen up and make themselves desirable. It was ever thus!

With the increasing hazards of highway travel, there may be a big market ahead for a new lightweight aluminum crash helmet developed in Europe. It not only takes unnecessary weight off your mind; tests proved that it also exhibits less "dent depth" when objects are dropped on it—with no one underneath, we should add.

Sounds like a sensible chap for construction workers too. Certainly lots of aluminum articles developed for one use have been quickly adopted for others... a process which has helped build heavy demand for Canadian aluminum both at home and in foreign markets. ANYONE who ever visited London knows Piccadilly Circus, and the famous statue of Eros, God of Love, poised above its central fountain. This statue has taken a lot of punishment during the past sixty years, from both practical jokers and London smog. But because the sculptor cast it in aluminum—it was the first large statue to be cast in the "new metal"—it has come safely through the years. When it was cleaned up for the Coronation, it gleamed as freshly as ever. The enduring beauty of aluminum has meanwhile made it a favorite of modern architects, furniture designers, decorators too. DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

We are glad that the maintenance superintendent, Arthur Eby and family have a few days for vacation. They have gone to Calgary and will be spending their holidays there.

Rev. Taylor is again on the campus. He will be very busy there for the next number of days before he begins special services at Madden and James River. No doubt he could use any volunteer labor obtainable.

The office of the secretary-treasurer has been entirely renovated and will be a lovely place to do business this coming winter. Thank you, Mr. Reuben Ratzlaff, for your kindly donated help.

The Hedgehogs are most helpful as they stay on the campus. What with chores and kitchen work they are relieving the burden of work for those there.

A number of new girls will be joining the student body this fall. Nearly all who attended last year will be returning. This will mean an increase in numbers which is most desirable. Local young people should plan to take some classes even though they can't be in residence.

Should any friends want to donate time painting or doing carpenter work contact President Taylor and make arrangements. Such help will be greatly appreciated.

Word has been received from Mr. Lusk that he has finished this summer's work in his degree work in music. He will be in special meetings, youth rallies, etc., for a number of weeks before returning to the campus for his winter's work.

So long for this time!

Service Board Notes

By W. K. Snyder

Perennial Sow Thistle — In many sections of this district this weed is a problem to control. It is a deep-rooted perennial that grows from both seed and root stocks. Some people mistake hawkweed for sow thistle. A sure way to identify sow thistle is by the milky juice which will ooze from the broken stem or the torn leaf. The whole plant is full of this bitter, milky juice.

The plants will grow from 1 to 5 feet in height. Flowers are bright yellow, about 1½ inches in diameter. This weed produces an abundance of seed which, together with its vigorous root system, makes it one of our most aggressive weed enemies. Wherever well established it can crowd out other crops almost completely.

If left undisturbed the seed will ripen before the grain is cut, and will be readily carried by the wind. 2-4-D, even this late in the year when the plants are full grown, has done amazing things. I know of many cases where patches treated like we are about to describe, never showed up again in succeeding years. For small patches use the knapsack sprayer. To 3 gallons of water add 20 ounces of 2-4-D. It isn't such a big job to treat the patches in this way and I am sure that you will be amazed at the results.

Grain can be safely treated after heading when the bloom is gone — about the dough stage. For large areas use the field sprayer and plan to use about 8 or 10 ounces acid per acre except in oats where 6 ounces is advised. This is much sounder practice than resorting to the scythe or mower since you will be achieving lasting results.

August Meeting Of Didsbury W.I.

The August 4th meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Miller. The song "There's a Lonely Little Robin" was sung to open the meeting followed by the creed.

Roll call was answered by 14 members, some bringing bouquets of flowers. Mrs. Pross got the prize for the nicest, it being roses and baby breath. Breadcloth and a cotton hat were bought to finish the quilt which was quilted at the home of Mrs. A. Grange on August 12th and 13th.

The report on Farm Women's week was given by Mrs. G. Bittner. Also the report of the Didsbury conference by Mrs. G. Miller. Mrs. G. Bittner received red ribbons for her bread and jelly roll.

Mrs. Ed. Blain thanked those who sent her "get well" cards.

The "Bit of Fun" was given by Mrs. Art. Grange which was passing the scissors crossed or uncrossed which puzzled some that took part.

The ten cent draw netted 1.40 the prize going to Mrs. Ed. Blain.

The five minute talk was about John Foster Dulles, by Mrs. G. Bittner. Each member is to bring an article for the bazaar to the next meeting for roll call.

A food sale and bazaar will be held at Clayton's store on November 6th. The quilt is also to be raffled at this time.

The singing of "The More We Get Together" followed by "The Queen"

Despite a heavy rain, a large crowd turned up at the C.P.R. station last Thursday afternoon to inspect the new Dayliner, which goes into operation next Monday. The rubber seats are indeed comfortable and the coaches seem more like streamlined buses. The conductor wearing an ordinary business suit seemed like one of the travellers. Each coach is divided into halves, smoking and non-smoking. Many local residents are looking forward to a fast ride to Calgary. We are told it is advisable to remain seated as the train attains a speed of 90 miles per hour. It would seem that extra precaution will have to be taken by motorists at railway crossings.

Mr. Vaughn LeGrand, stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Montreal, is home on a 38-day leave.
